

MICHELLE JAWORSKI

REPORTER, EDITOR, AND CRITIC

CONTACT

New York, NY

<https://michellejaworski.com>

<https://knitflicks.substack.com>

SKILLS

AP Style, blogging, feature writing, criticism, social media, pop culture analysis, online fandom expertise, on-site convention and film festival reporting, SEO, WordPress, Slack, Spanish (intermediate).

EDUCATION

Rowan University

2008-2012

B.A. in Journalism

B.A. in Radio/Television/Film

Kingston University

2011

Arts and Social Sciences,
Semester Abroad

AFFILIATIONS

Online Association of Female Film Critics, Film Independent, Rotten Tomatoes, Cherry Pickers, Lambda Pi Eta

REFERENCES

Upon request.

EXPERIENCE

Siren Books: Freelance Editor

Remote: July 2024-Present

Edits blog posts for an independent bookstore that are geared toward a loyal readership on a freelance basis.

Freelance Reporter and Critic

Remote: October 2023-Present

Pitches and reviews films on a commission basis with the ability to adapt to any publication's specific and file in a timely manner. Projects written about include Foe, Coraline, and House of the Dragon season 2.

Knit(ting) Flicks: Owner

Remote: August 2022-Present

Writes, edits, and publishes newsletters on Substack about movies, TV, knitting, and knitwear for a growing audience.

The Daily Dot

- Staff Writer (Remote: September 2014-September 2023)
- Contributing Writer (Remote: August 2012-September 2014)
- Intern (Remote: June-August 2012)

Pitched and wrote quick hits, critical analysis, reviews, SEO, and ambitious features, which helped increase the site's readership in the short and long term. An instrumental part of the Daily Dot's entertainment and internet culture coverage, resulting in a loyal readership. Helped assign and edit blogs. Spearheaded the Daily Dot's brand recognition on the film festival circuit, (Sundance, NYFF, Tribeca), requiring great flexibility. Wrote a bi-weekly streaming column for the Daily Dot's newsletter that committed to highlighting new releases.

WCAU-TV: Consumer Intern

Bala Cynwyd, PA: January-April 2012

Researched for upcoming stories, made phone calls, and logged interviews. Wrote and uploaded content for nbcphiladelphia.com. Went out on assignment with dayside reporters.